Islamic Wills

Our Principal Consultant Solicitor, Mariam Khan, also specialises in Islamic Wills. In countries where the intestate succession law is different from Islamic law it becomes absolutely necessary to write a Will. England and Wales is one such jurisdiction. It is, however, relatively straightforward to write a Will that complies with Islamic law and ensure that your estate is distributed correctly according to the rules laid down in the Qur'an.

If you require a consultation for an Islamic Will, just let us know upon enquiring so we can book you in with Mariam. Alternatively, you can book directly with Mariam via our website.

Probate FAQs

This information is designed to give you a bit more clarity and to answer questions we are frequently asked.

What is a Grant of Probate?

The Grant of Probate is the official confirmation of your power, as Executor of the Will, to administer the estate. Banks and building societies may be happy to register the death with the death certificate, however they won't release any of the deceased's savings or investments without seeing the Grant of Probate itself. If a person had a property in their name, or high value assets, it is likely probate will be required.

What if there is no Will?

If there is no Will the estate will be administered according to the rules of intestacy. The law dictates who can and can't administer the estate or benefit from it.

Disbursements are fees paid to third parties, these are often to comply with your legal obligations, or are services that we do not provide in house.

What our clients say about us...

I recently used the will writing & power of attorney services of W&P Legal, and I am extremely satisfied with the experience. The process was not only convenient but also surprisingly easy. The team at Will & Probate Services demonstrated a high level of professionalism and expertise throughout the entire process.

I have used this team for a couple of different services now. Each time they have dealt with my needs efficiently. Latisha has recently dealt with my husband's estate for me and I've been really impressed. They made it so much easier and I felt like I was dealing with friends. Would recommend them every time.

W&P Legal were recommended by a friend. My wife and I were both impressed with their friendly professionalism and attention to detail. We were fully informed at each stage of the process and have the outcome that we sought. A first class job!

Will & Probate Services provided my wife and I with a highly professional, all encompassing service when we sought to update our Wills, apply for Lasting Power of Attorney, create Property Protection Trusts and a whole raft of associated matters. From the very beginning of the process through to the end we were given excellent advice and help, in easy to understand everyday language.

Excellent service, quick, responsive and highly professional. I had a will drafted. One Zoom call to discuss the detail and a very accurate draft sent to me in the time agreed. No amendment needed, very quick to answer questions, original will sent to me for signatures and then held. Exceptional value for money for such a professional team.

I found the whole experience from the initial interaction with W&P Legal to the follow up with the team that process the will to be very professional and thorough ensuring that all my wishes were translated in the final document.

A top-class service from a company who specialises in their field! We were looking for a company to handle our UK wills, and despite us being in Canada we were able to meet remotely with Nick and work through all the fine details. We were able to review the drafts on-line and when we visited the UK the final copies were waiting for us to sign, none of the stuffiness of a traditional solicitor and none of the delays either.
